 FOOTBALLERS’ £100,000 clubhouse bid Verdict soon on bid to run civic centre

COUNCILLORS will next week make an initial decision on whether three community groups can take over the running of Stourport Civic Centre.

The centre is currently used by Wyre Forest District Council but the authority will want the site in June next year to move to a new base at Fineprint Business Park.

Representatives from Stourport Town Council, Stourport Forward and the Civic Group hope to manage the centre, which would become a multi-functional hub.

The plans, a year in the making, include the Civic Group managing the café hall and functions and would cost £50,000 to get off the ground.

A business case has been developed through the work of the Stourport Facilities Planning Steering Group, which includes members from all political groups on Severn Town Council.

District and town councilor John Holden said he was proud to have been part of what he called a groundbreaking project.

“We still have much work to do but if Wyre Forest District Council give their approval we will be able to continue to work together to move this project forward,” he said.

The Civic Group formed four months ago and plans to develop a programme of events and activities to be held at the theatre throughout the year.

The centre is currently located on the site of the historic civic centre building but a decision on whether three community groups can take over the running of the civic centre into modern buildings on the site, not the historic building.

However, we have lost the bulk of the education lease which is a real heritage attraction.

The Centre for the Arts at Stourport

“The Civic Group and Wyre Forest District Council have identified as a need through the work of the Stourport Facilities Planning Steering Group,” said Councillor Holden.

The matter will be discussed and a decision made on whether the Civic Group can take over the running of the civic centre.

Wyre Forest District Council chief executive Councillor Marcus Hart said the centre was one of the more modern buildings on the site.

He said: “Fortunately the fire service were quick to respond to the blaze last Sunday (October 16) but they were on site early the following day to clean up.”

Robert Holmes, visitor experience manager at museum staff, said: “Fortunately the fire service were quick to respond to the blaze last Sunday (October 16) but they were on site early the following day to clean up.”

There will also be a tombola, raffle, plants, books, gifts and bric-a-brac for £2.

Parents and guardians are also being encouraged to sponsor one of the 15,000 bricks needed to build the new house, for £2.

All those who contribute will get their name printed on a special board of recognition inside the new clubhouses.

The men’s Saturday team recently raised £750 from a race night and now club bosses are urging the rest of the team to host their own fundraising events.

Any interested sponsors or volunteers wishing to join the committee should contact Mr Bingham on 07911 758415 or 01562 824002.

The Blue Coaches club bosses want to focus on supporting the local community.

Mrs Long also said the club now has a corrugated metal roof.

Mr Bingham, of the Areley Kings, said: “The players will not return to thousands of people who continue to work a four-day week to help save £170,000 are also unveiled.

Fortnightly collections were introduced last year and although the Government has offered funding to help pave the way for a return to a weekly pick-up, council leaders have now said things will stay as they are.

They have also drafted a range of proposals to help reduce cash, including introducing the use of agency workers and teaming up with neighbouring authorities, such as Bromsgrove.

The collections would be reduced beyond fortnightly alternating collections of refuse and recycling.

By getting refuse collectors to do their two rounds on Tuesday, Friday, instead of the same three crews on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, we avoid the problems that Bank Holidays traditionally causes,” he said.

The collections would not be reduced and continue to work a four-day week.

A clutch of orange pumpkins surround her feet, in contrast to the black-and-white undead image created by her shoulders.

But do not worry, this is just one of the creepy sights in store for visitors to West Midland Safari Park, Bewdley, at its Spooky Spectacular which starts on Saturday (October 15).

Mary-Anne’s pride as she rises to baking challenge

A MOTHER from Kidderminster has spoken of her pride at reaching the finals of a BBC baking show.

Mary-Anne Boermans made it to the final three of the BBC’s The Great British Bake Off.

In the grand final of the show the 45-year-old had to take part in three rounds of baking but was judged to be in the top spot for the top spot by ex-baker mother-of-three Jo Wheatley.

Mrs Boermans said she was thrilled just to have had the opportunity to take part in the show. “It was great fun, how many people can say they have cooked for Mary Berry?” she said.

“The show was proving to be great fun so it was brilliant. I am really pleased for Jo.”

The show has proved a ratings winner and around four million are thought to have tuned in for the final on Tuesday night of last week show.

Mrs Boermans, who is a housewife and lives with her five-year-old daughter Fleur and husband Robert, said she believed the show’s simplicity was the reason for its success. “Sailly there has been a tendency for dramatic shows,” she said.

“The bake off is none of that, it is ordinary people baking with no shooting, hátos and tantrums.

She said her first plan when it came to the kitchen was to bake some bread for packed lunches.

“I will carry on with what I have been doing looking in old books and seeing what I can adapt,” she added.

“I can find you make food easier and cheaper than what you can buy in the shops and you don’t need a huge amount of skill.”

The competition started out with 12 amateur baking contestants. They were required to bake cakes, bread and pastries and work with very tight time limits.

Amateur bakers can apply now for the next series. Applicants must be at least 18 and must be aged between 25 and 50 years old.

The show has proved attractive to television audiences, with overnight viewing figures of 7.2 million, while the BBC said the show had proved its worth in raising money for charity.

The three bakers, who are going to the final, will be revealed later this week.

Meet your

Robots ready to blow up a storm

TORNADO, Behemoth and Storm 2 are not names usually associated with the Wyre Forest Glades Leisure Centre.

But that will change this weekend when robots from all over Europe descend on the centre for the Robot Wars-style event Robotics Live.

Held in The Glades Arena the two-day show will play host to robots weighing up to 1.5 tonnes, vying against each other in individual and team championships, as well as football, tug of war and speedway games.

Humanized robots and robotic boxers are also due to keep the crowds entertained and will form part of a purpose-built arena surrounded by a bullet-proof screen.

Tickets for the shows, which start at 6pm on Saturday (£5) and noon and 3pm on Sunday (£2), are available online by calling 0844 499 9132.

Arrangements are being made for public meetings to be held.

Don’t want your husband to forget your anniversary? Like to create a personal gift with family photos to treasure? Or need a way to showcase your charity or club while raising funds?

The Best Copy Shop is offering a photo-filled 2012 Calendar - and you can even mark on two special birthdays and an anniversary date. The Worcester Street shop has been creating calendars with treasured memories for three years and its owner, Derek Bennett, says he wanted to refine and add new features to offer an even more personalised touch to the perfect gift.

He said: “You can bring your own photographs, as prints or digital pictures, and we put one on each page of the calendar. As well as marking on public holidays, we are offering the chance to mark off those dates on the calendar which are important in your life - your daughter or son never have an excuse to miss them again!”

The fantastic value-for-money calendar remains at the same low price of £6.95.

Derek said: “These calendars are ideal gifts to give as they show new and old memories such as births, holidays and precious memories. Families who have family photographs are enlarged so that the detail and the memories stay fresh.

“And it can be completed in about half-an-hour. In fact we have found out that some customers are so impressed with the pictures printed out, they have actually cut them out and had them framed.

FIVE blood donors from Kidderminster, including a set of twins, have been recognised for their commitment to rolling up their sleeves to help save lives.

They were honoured at a recent awards ceremony held by NHS Blood and Transplant (NHSBT).

Roger and Brian Ashdown, aged 67, have been donating for decades.

Roger received a crystal decanter for making 100 donations.

Only one per cent of all blood donors reach this milestone, and it really is an outstanding achievement.

He was knocked down aged five and handed seven pence.

Roger said: “I then vowed I would always give blood. I give to save other people’s lives.”

His brother was presented with a crystal plate after reaching the milestone of 75 donations.

Proud

Brian said: “It was something I always wanted to do. I am proud to have saved lives.”

Kidderminster residents Philip Rawle was also honoured for 100 donations, with Marianne Deathridge and John Maddox recognised for reaching the 75 mark.

They were joined by other donors from the region, including Nigel Jakeman, of Stourport-on-Severn, and Anthony Rhoden, from Bewdley.

Both had reached the 75 donations milestone.

The ceremony took place at the Chase Impney Hotel, Droitwich.

The awards were presented by Suzanne Walsh, lead donor relations manager for NHSBT for the West Midlands.

She said: “We are grateful to all our donors but the loyalty of some of them is just overwhelming.

“It is an honour to recognise our long-standing donors in this way: their selfless dedication really is amazing.

“Their commitment means hospital patients are able to recover the life-saving blood they need.”

The awards lunch is a way of recognising the commitment that long-term donors make to the NHS.

NHSBT is now urging blood donors and new ones to attend sessions as the start of autumn colds and flu can affect blood stocks.

For details of sessions in your area or to book an appointment call 0300 123 21 23 or visit www.blood.co.uk.

Kidney-failure man’s joy over self-care programme

A KIDDERMINSTER patient is celebrating becoming the Kidderminster Dialysis Unit’s self-care programme’s first graduate.

Trevor Lobb wanted to become more independent and be in control of his care so that he did not have to spend hours receiving treatment at hospital.

After completing the self-care programme at Kidderminster Hospital & Treatment Centre he is now able to dialyse at home.

Patients with kidney failure who require dialysis are often treated via medical machines and initiate their own treatment, allowing them to reclaim a much greater control of their lives.

“They are often unable to work, their social life is disrupted, and things like meal times and holidays are compromised, along with their sense of control, as their lives are now scheduled around set days of treatment performed by a team of nursing staff.”

“The self-care programme gives patients more empowerment and a sense of belonging as they become partners in their care.”

Inspiring old letters

A MIDLANDS author will tell a meeting of Wyre Forest Historical Research Group how she wrote a book based on 14 letters she found from her grandfather.

Ann Crowther found the letters, from the trenches of France and Gallipoli, before her grandfather Charles Crowther joined the Territorial Army in 1914. The letters were written by her grandfather to his wife while he was serving in the Worcestershire Regiment in France and Canada, and then dying in Malta from his wounds.

The talk will take place on October 19 at Kidderminster Library, starting at 2pm.

All are welcome and there is a small fee which includes refreshments.

Our Prices Cannot Be beaten!

A HARTLEBURY food producer CF Foods has further cemented its community partnership with homeless day centre Maggo, by producing branded trolley coin in a bid to raise much needed funds for the centre.

The coins, which display both company logos, are being sold on site at CF Foods on Hartlebury Trading Estate as well as Maggo Day Centre in Worcester.

They cost £1, with all proceeds going to Maggo. Glenn Blissett, from the CF Charity Partnership says, “As well as working on the allocation plot for winter and holding regular car boot sales locally, we wanted to create a visual identity for our partnership with Maggo, something our supporters could always keep close to hand.”

Great

“Trolley coins have proved a hit with the staff here and are selling like hot cakes!”

Mel Kirk, acting manager at Maggo, said: “It’s great to see the dedicated team at CP putting so much into supporting our centre.”

“So far, they’ve raised £150 for the centre and the allotment is looking like it will produce a healthy crop for winter.”

“We’re thrilled to be working with them and are looking forward to plan our next fundraising!”

Soup Trail Trophy from the Mayor of Bewdley, Jan Adams

- Visit our Website: www.banburywindows.co.uk

THOUSANDS of people flocked to Bewdley for this year’s Harvest Festival, which saw business soar as high as the temperatures. The two-day event, which took place at the start of the month, saw crowds spilling out of Load Street to look at the Suffolk Punch horses after their town parade.

- Mayor of Bewdley Jan Adams also launched the first Bewdley harvest soup trail, on Severn Side South, with six pubs and stalls serving more than 600 samples of soup, despite the heat.

- Chefs from The Bailiff’s House, The Food Foundry, Granarybar, Victoria’s Tea Room, The Hop Pole, The Little Park House and the Mug House all raised a stew among the diners trying to bag the title of Bewdley’s harvested soup of the year.

- Tasters voted The Mug House the winner with an espresso beetroot and apple soup with smoked chips and beetroot crisps.

- Council landlord Drew Clifford, who gave the competition away to local artists Chris Conner and Ric Lyman at Bewdley Museum. "All the chefs did an amazing job," Councillor Adams said. “It just shows how good food in Bewdley can be and I’m sure that this will become an annual event.”

Busy

- The soup event was set up with the help of the Bewdley Development Trust and Grow with Wye.

- Organisers hope to make it an annual event to help promote local produce and foot outlets.

- Along Severn Side craft stalls reported busy trades, while several stalls in the monthly Bewdley local produce market in Load Street sold out of stock on the second day.

- The museum boasted craft displays, apple stalls and music from folk band Wholesourse, attracting upwards of 8000 visitors across both days,” Chris said. “Everybody from the chefs to the public really threw themselves into the spirit of it and it was great promotion for Bewdley produce and culinary skills.

- For all the soup recipes visit www.bewdley.org.uk/second-day-event-trust

- Soup voter Chris Dunn, of Park Lane, was also crowned winner when he was selected from 20000 winners to win a family ticket to the West Midlands Safari Park.

- Apart

Organisers Chris Griffin and Beverley Farrow said they were overwhelmed by the success of the day. Bewdley has much to offer visitors and there was no shortage of activities to see and do.

- Apart from presentations from some of the parish councils that have benefited, there was information on display about all the projects that have received funding.

Worcestershire

- Councilor Simon Garson, responsible for economic development at the county council, county and district council level, and chairman of the county and district councils’ joint executive, said that at least 230 projects have been funded by the LEADER scheme.

- “Projects help local businesses, communities and individuals to access development opportunities that can bring economic benefits or enhance the rural environment,” he said.

- Some of the projects that have benefitted include the King’s Arms Pub in Bewdley, the Trench Brewery in Trench, and the West Midlands Safari Park in Stirchley.

- In Wye Forest the LEADER scheme has helped with improvements at the village of Coalport and tramway, as well as installing photovoltaic panels at Rockfield Village Hall. There has also been funding for Great Witley & Hilltopmorton Parish Council’s Beacon Field Community Project. Key people from a range of projects and organisations saw how LEADER funding had improved life for rural communities.

- The event was held in the town of Bewdley, south Worcestershire.

Whilst everyone would like to be more environmentally friendly, there’s no question that everyone would love to save money. With spiralling energy costs, alternative sources for heating and electricity are high on the agenda for homeowners. Help is at hand in the form of Worcestershire-based solar energy specialists Eco2Solar Limited. This family-run firm can advise on and install solar panels which can produce either heating and hot water (solar thermal) or electricity (photovoltaic energy or PV). Unlike some other forms of eco-energy, fitting solar panels requires minimum disruption to your home and using a trusted local company like Eco2Solar also offers peace of mind. Managing Director Paul Hutchens explains, “Eco2Solar is a family business. We employ all of our own surveyors and installers, meaning you should always get the same level of personal but professional service”. This professional service, combined with the high levels of customer care isn’t all that’s on offer with Eco2Solar’s solar panels. Thanks to the Government’s Feed-In Tariffs (or FITS) scheme, which pays homeowners for electricity they produce or for electricity which they export back to the national grid, people using solar panels can actually make money back from them. Now is the perfect time to get involved with solar energy, as Paul explains: “Solar energy, especially solar PV, provides a return on your investment which is difficult to beat – up to 15% for a well installed system, guaranteed for 25 years and linked to inflation.”

EARN UP TO £1,800 PER YEAR WITH SOLAR PV*

Average Cost: £12,000
FiT Revenue: £1,486
Electricity Savings: £257
Excess Electricity Back to the Grid: £51
Total income and savings: £1,794

That’s an impressive 15% return which is guaranteed for 25 years and linked to inflation!

“I had a visit within a week and your quotation within 24 hours. The survey was thorough and professional. They had the best price, impression and reputation. I would recommend Eco2Solar to anyone”.

Opens 19th October
A KIDDERMINSTER musical extravaganza that has raised more than £150,000 for charity over three decades has taken its final curtain call.

Music For You has been a major fixture at Kidderminster Town Hall every year since 1982, and chaired the committee up to 1992, as well as current chairman Terry Wilcox.

Many local charities have benefited from more than £150,000 raised by Music For You, including Cancer Research, Kemp Hospice and Kidderminster Hospital League of Friends. One of the men who was instrumental in creating Music For You, Ian Dewey, was travelling from Colchester to see the show for the first time since he moved away 29 years ago. Planting in the trombone section of the West Midlands Light Orchestra was David Parker, who composed the first show in 1982.

Warren Bond, who led the West Midlands Light Orchestra in 1982 and chaired the committee up to 1992, said it was also time to call it a day.

Stars of stage and screen set to shine in classic tales

TWO critically-acclaimed plays that were among the hottest tickets in London earlier this year are coming to Birmingham next week.

Urban Soap box, which was the first play to go on tour after the Royal Court’s exit from the West End, tells the story of a family living on Tower Hamlets. It stars Gemma Whelan as the matriarch and Stephen MERCHANT as her brother, who runs a cross-dressing comedy show.

The show will be performed at the New Wimbledon Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday. The final performance is on Saturday evening (Friday), where Corden will return to the stage for one final time. It will be broadcast live on London’s South Bank Centre’s roundhouse and is on a short UK tour before heading to London’s West End.

On the other hand, the play features Patti LuPone as the matriarch and David Walliams as the brother, who runs a cross-dressing comedy show.

The show will be performed at the New Wimbledon Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday. The final performance is on Saturday evening (Friday), where Corden will return to the stage for one final time. It will be broadcast live on London’s South Bank Centre’s roundhouse and is on a short UK tour before heading to London’s West End.

Kiddermister Harriers 1 Luton Town 2

KIDDERMISTER were left to count the cost of a damaging defeat against Blue Square Premier title favourites Luton Town. Not only did Steve Burr’s men drop from fifth to eighth in the table, they also suffered injury blows to defenders Luke Jone and Mike Williams who were both due to miss the home clash with Telford which was taking place on Tuesday night.

Robbie Willmott bagged a brace for fifth-placed Luton before Tom Haples pulled a goal back for Kiddermister in the 87th minute.

Watched by their first 3,000-plus crowd of the season, Harriers found it tough going in the first half and were relieved after the break to have secured a precious win.

Burr said: “We ran out of time, although it was pleasing to get a goal and give ourselves a chance to get something out of the game.”

“I can’t fault the lads’ effort in the second half. I thought they did really well. But I think you can see that extra bit more if you are going to be up there and getting something out of this decision – perhaps Luton had that and we didn’t,” he added.

Late try gives Saxons some consolation

LIAM WORLBY’S late try and an inch-and-perfect Mark Wood conversion secured Saxons a well-deserved losing bonus point at league leaders Eagles Trailfinders at the weekend.

Few would have given Neil Mitchell’s side a chance as they headed to the league leaders with top run on their names and plagued by a lengthy injury list.

But against all odds, and in the teeth of a strong start from the home side, it was Mike Williams before breaking the deadlock in the 39th minute.

Williams made his home debut in place of long-term casual Danny Lewis, who never failed to beat Luton in eight attempts.

Willesley broke the deadlock in the 39th minute when he felled a run by Aamar Morgan-Swift who outjumped Mike Williams before producing a pinpoint cross.

Three minutes earlier Harriers had been forced to draft in Michael Briscoe in place of Joseph who limped off with a calf injury.

The opening half before half-time, Scott Phelan replaced skipper Williams who was struggling with a hip problem.

Harriers gave the Hatters a more testing time after the break with the visitors finding it hard to forge many clear-cut opportunities.

Burr said: “Luton have got a good strength in depth, but they are a couple of players that play cost money. That’s why I’m pleased with what we did because they stuck at it.”

And it didn’t take long for the visitors to break the deadlock as they were quick on the recovery.

Harriers finally broke through when Matt Williams set up the chance from a hopeful kick which hit the ‘keeper in close range.
